2010 International Boer Goat Association, Inc. TYPE CONFERENCE

Friday, May 28 • 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. CST
Murray State University Expo Center • Murray, Kentucky

What is a Type Conference?

An educational opportunity to learn firsthand how Judges judge at a show and to receive instruction on how to identify goats of quality. The International Breed Standards will be explained and identified with the use of live animals for evaluation.

Who Should Attend?

Those who are raising or showing Boer Goats or are thinking about starting to raise Boer Goats or wanting to learn to select Boer goats for breeding, show or the meat market.

What Takes Place?

Review and discuss International Boer Goat Association Breed Standards, hands on demonstrations and instruction with live goats. There will be evaluation of market animals with carcass evaluation to follow. Participants will have the opportunity to evaluate and place classes of goats. Notebook of useful terminology, conformation, teat structures, judging and selection techniques will be supplied to all participants. There will be a segment on hoof trimming for structure and fitting for show ring. Also there will be a panel discussion – question/answer period with the instructors.

The instructors will be Mr. Don Smith, Talpa, Texas; Mr. Pit Kemmer, Crossville, Tennessee; Michelle McAfee, Harrodsburg, Kentucky; Rusty & Rayna Lee of Winder, Georgia; Jason Brashear, Pineville, Kentucky and various other Judges of the International Boer Goat Association.
